

At left—President Harding, with Gen. Pershing and Col. Charles A. Forbes, talking over plans for the relief of disabled veterans of the war. Underwood & Underwood.

Above—Here is the Queen of the Asbury Park annual Baby Parade, Miss Hazel Williams, in the state coach provided for the monarch of a day. Central News.

Heavy rain greeted the opening of the Dail Eireann in Dublin, but it did not diminish the eager interest of the crowds that thronged the streets. Count Plunkett is shown here arriving at the Mansion House. International.

Although she is in her 84th year, Mrs. John A. Logan, widow of the Civil War General, still maintains an active interest in life. The photograph was taken in her garden in Washington. Underwood & Underwood.

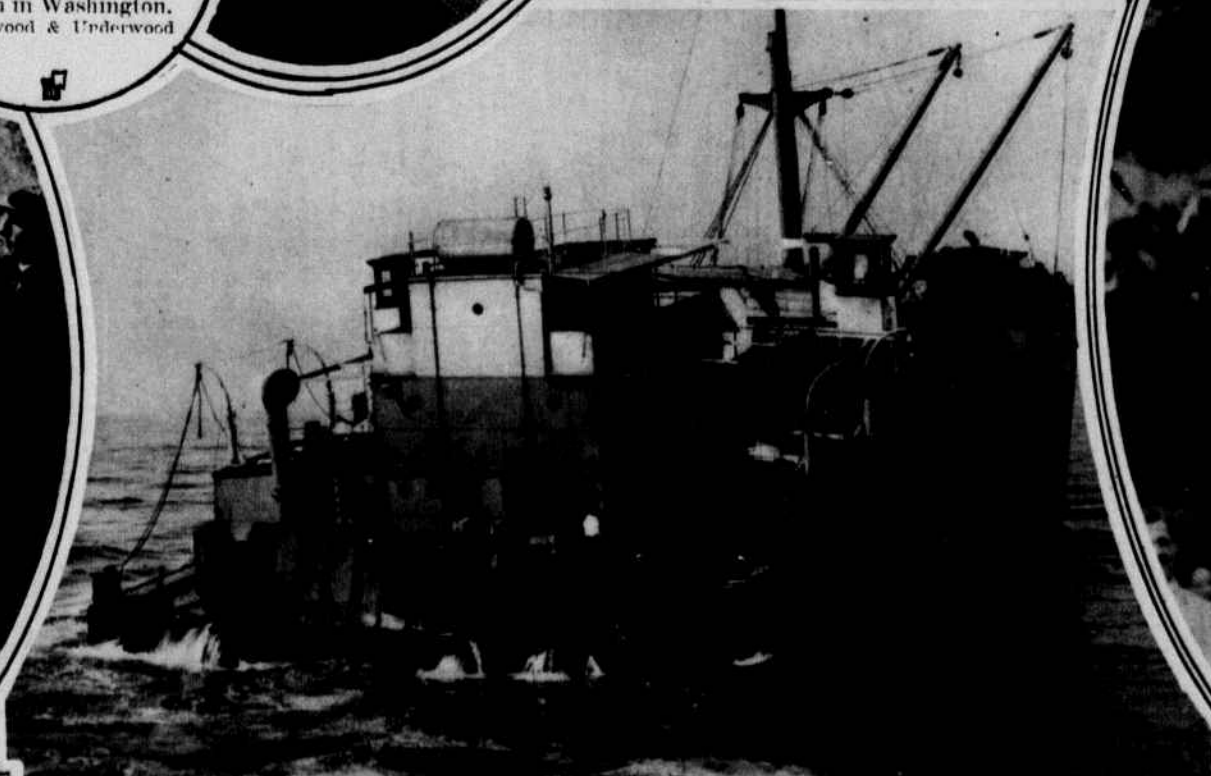

Miss Betty Lyon of Brooklyn, winner of the prize for the prettiest baby at the annual Baby Parade, held at Asbury Park, N. J. Central News.

Six year old Hugh Graccio, who impersonated Caruso as Canio in Pagliacci, won first prize, a pony and cart, at the Asbury Park Baby Parade. Wide World.

Two reverend Fathers of the Franciscan order trudged through the rain to attend the opening of the Dail Eireann in Dublin. Underwood & Underwood.

All that is left of the good ship Canadian Explorer, which struck a reef on the way to Vancouver, B. C., and broke in two. Salvage crews are saving what they can from her upper works. Underwood & Underwood.

Here is Gen. Leonard Wood addressing the victors in the Far Eastern games at Manila. He will be kept in the Philippines by the Government until world conditions become more stable. Wide World.